

Dear friends,

we would like to invite you to a traditional meeting of fans of J.R.R. Tolkien in the Czech republic, TolkienCon. The 8th gathering of this name will take place during the weekend of 15th-17th January 2010 in Prague, Czech republic. The date was selected so that it roughly corresponds to the day Professor was born, and the first TolkienCon took place in 2003, being a celebration of Tolkien's 111th birthday.

The program consists of lectures, seminars, hopefully some musical and dance performance and theatre, and some particular activities of different Middle-Earth nations, or rather fans that identify themselves with those. But the main point of TolkienCon is to meet with people who share the interest in Tolkien's work and universe.

We would also like to include some foreign program to get a bit of fresh air and see what the Tolkien fans are doing in other countries. We've heard about you from our friends from Slovakia and would very much like to see you at TolkienCon. We would give you space to present your organization, and also, we would be honoured if you were willing to participate in program with your fanart. Entrance and lodging would, naturally, be free.

If you have any questions, please, don't hesitate to contact us.

Looking forward to seeing you,

Tolkien Con organizers
